Specifications For Contractors Bids Approved By Board

Acting on recommendation of Frank E. Weymouth, general manager and chief engineer, the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District has approved specifications for contractors' bids on substations and transmission lines required in furnishing electric power needed in construction of the San Jacinto tunnel and other units of the Colorado river aqueduct project.

Contractors are to be given an opportunity to submit several types of bids. It was announced by the board. Under one general specification, contractors would supply all materials, and under an alternative plan, the district would supply the basic equipment and materials on the job.

Advertisements are to be released on October 21. One set of bids will be opened on November 10 and another on November 17.

Doin's of th'
Flyin' Buzzard
By DUETTE HILL

Slim had found out that being six feet seven inches tall is no joke, his feet nearly drag the ground on "little breeches," his little nag, but "e that drivin' a gas buggy would be a snap," in then he'd have a better chance with the new gal, so when Tenderfoot sed' e cud drive his swell car—he jest got in it 'n that he cud drive off. Well he did, right off into the hog waller, 'n stuck in the mud. Buss pulled 'in out with his little yaller nag. He sed he'd break that thing to rein, but he broke down all the little jumpers and ever oak is all skinned up where 'e dodged around um like a burro, runnin' from the heel flies.

He stopped when 'e run into the corral 'n broke half the poles 'n if there didn't hang his best shirt on a post that he allus thought the Indian wrangler got away with. He fergot he hung it there last fall while 'e wuz brandin'.

"Free Homes" Offer Declined By Board

The county charities department will be unable to accept the offer of a land development company for "free homes" for 100 indigent county families in lower California, it was decided today.

Investigating the offer, it was learned that persons would in all probability be unable to make a bare living, because when water was poured upon the arid region it brought alkali to the top of the soil, spoiling it for farming purposes.

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from Luke, relating to the crucifixion: "And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you. But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit. And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that I have sent unto you, and see for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have."
A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, says, "The Master said plainly that physique was not spirit, and after his resurrection he proved to the physical senses that his body was not changed until he himself ascended—or, in other words, rose even higher in the understanding of Spirit, God."

Old-Time Religion Services Will Close Next Sunday Night

The fourth and last in series of "Old-fashioned Religion" services which have been in progress at the Torrance Christian church, will close next Sunday night, October 23. The last service will feature a choir, processional with the members dressed in their old-fashioned costumes. The audience will be given an opportunity to choose the best-dressed member.

The service will also feature Eunice Wood, noted cello player now residing at Lomita. She will play "Kol Nidrei" by MacBeech, and several other selections. She will be accompanied by Ila McPhail.

The sermon subject will be, "The Judgment." Rev. Elder, pastor of the church said, "When St. Paul said, 'God hath appointed a day on which He will judge the world,' certainly had reference to the general judgment; however, there are many days of judgment for transgressors even now. It is hard to pass sentence on the violator. We do not like to see men punished even when they have done wrong, and yet there is nothing more necessary. In many walks of life men and women are being punished for their evil deeds. This is undoubtedly a day of judgment." The people of Torrance and vicinity are invited to attend this service.

Lomita Resident Taken By Death

J. B. Rogers, aged 77, residing at 1428 Pennsylvania avenue, Lomita, passed away Sunday night at 9:30 o'clock following a stroke which he suffered on Saturday. Funeral services were held on Wednesday from the Mottell chapel, Long Beach, followed by cremation. The ashes were taken to Spokane, Washington, to repose by the side of his first wife who passed away some time ago.
Mr. Rogers leaves two sons, James Rogers of Santa Cruz and Ralph Rogers residing in northern California, and a stepson, Claude Knaggs of San Diego, who with his wife was summoned north by the news of Mr. Rogers' serious illness. Mr. Rogers' second wife passed away 11 months ago.

Roadside Planting of Trees Increased

That individuals throughout the county planted and trimmed under permit 100 percent more trees last year than the year before was revealed today in a report handed to the board of supervisors by Spence Turner, county forester.
"Roadside tree planting in the county has steadily increased," Turner stated. "This was true in spite of reduced funds for such work and the increasing maintenance costs on the accumulative plantings of the past few years."
A fight to save the county's tree-lined highways from insects and fungus which threatened to cause them to die, was told in Turner's report. Some 18,000 trees were sprayed, and tree borers were removed from 1200 more.
